

Weight Loss Client Profiles

Weight loss clients will each be a unique combination of characteristics that deserve an individualized and thoughtful approach. No two clients will ever be the same and below are some examples of weight loss client profiles.

Alicia

Alicia is 44 years old and has a goal of losing about 10 kg (22 pounds). She is interested in learning about why she should make certain dietary decisions and understands that weight loss is a journey. She doesn't have a specific timeline for weight loss but is eager to get started. She has high self-efficacy for identifying healthy options, but low self-efficacy for portion control and eating in social situations. She is in the Preparation stage of change.

Galina Zhigalova/Shutterstock.com

Stock-Asso/Shutterstock.com

Nico

Nico is 60 years old and has always held weight in his abdomen. As a new grandfather, he is now interested in longevity. His father and uncle both died from heart attacks, and he's concerned about his family history. His family tends to show love with food and the expectation is to eat at family gatherings which occur frequently. He doesn't have a specific weight loss goal and is unsure whether a Nutrition Coach is the way to go. He's in the Contemplation stage.

Elle

Elle is 23 years old and has low self-efficacy for healthy eating. She has a poor body image. Her BMI is 27.0 kg/m², but she keeps referring to herself as obese. She admits to eating too much fast food and seeks out convenient options. She lives with roommates who share her habits and has never tried preparing her meals. She goes to the gym a few days a week but doesn't have much structure. She reached out for nutrition coaching after her boyfriend commented that her clothes look tighter lately. She's currently in the Contemplation stage.

oneinchpunch/Shutterstock.com

Weight Loss Client Profiles

Sam

Sam is 35 years old and their doctor has strongly recommended a weight loss plan due to a recent diagnosis of pre-diabetes. They have agreed to try nutrition coaching.

alvan.ph/Shutterstock.com

The main goal is to improve health and also feel better. In the past, their self-efficacy has been very low with anything surrounding healthy eating. During the intake process it was revealed that they don't pay much attention to portion control and were raised to always finish what was on their plate to avoid being wasteful. They also talked about eating due to stress and boredom where food is used to cope with emotions in many situations. They have purchased some cookbooks and food prep items. They are in the Preparation stage.

Gia

Gia is 28 years old and wants to lose a few pounds even though she is not overweight. Her goals are to fine tune her physical appearance. She works out regularly and uses an online personal trainer who suggested a Nutrition Coach to help her dial in her diet. She already tracks her calories and has high self-efficacy for following a food plan. She has a strong social media presence and wants to make sure she looks her best. She considers herself in the Action stage.

Prostock-studio/Shutterstock.com