

ASSESSMENT & CONSULTATION PRE-WORK CHECKLIST

This checklist is designed to help you ensure that you walk into the onboarding process for each client fully prepared. When used properly, this checklist will help you:

- Be prepared for each new client
- Create clarity for the client
- Build trust
- Set clear expectations and next steps.

Coach Preparation (Before Anything Else)

Check each box as you complete them

- ☐ I reviewed the client's completed intake forms
- ☐ I noted key goals, motivations, and stated challenges
- ☐ I flagged any medical history or red flags requiring referral
- ☐ I identified gaps or inconsistencies to explore later
- ☐ I prepared open-ended questions

Consultation Pre-Work (Conversation First)

Remember that the goal of the first consultation is to build rapport, context, and alignment. Check each box as you complete them to ensure you are walking into the initial consultation prepared and with the right mindset.

- ☐ I understand why the client is seeking coaching now
- ☐ I am prepared to explore the client's past experiences
- ☐ I will clarify expectations of coaching vs outcomes
- ☐ I will explain my role and the coaching process
- ☐ I will assess readiness, confidence, and buy-in
- ☐ I will listen more than I speak
- ☐ I will not diagnose, prescribe, or "fix" during the consultation

Assessment Pre-Work (Information Gathering)

Use this checklist to ensure that you have captured all the necessary data via appropriate assessments prior to your initial consultation. Confirm you have are prepared to collect:

- Lifestyle structure (schedule, work demands, stressors)
- Nutrition behaviors and patterns (not perfection)
- Training and movement history
- Sleep, recovery, and energy patterns
- Relevant health history within scope
- Tracking experience and preferences

Boundary & Scope Check

Spend some time preparing to communicate clear scope of practice and professional boundaries with your clients by reviewing the following:

- I am prepared to explain what coaching includes
- I am prepared to explain what coaching does not include
- I will refer out when something is outside my scope
- I will avoid medical or therapeutic language

Post-Session Setup (Still Pre-Work Mindset)

Spend a few minutes before each intake and prepare for the post-onboarding steps that help create a seamless transition for the client.

- I know what information I still need before programming
- I can outline next steps clearly (without overpromising)
- I will summarize key takeaways in writing
- I will confirm logistics for onboarding or next session
