

Common Distraction for Golfers

Type	Distractions	✓
External Distractions	• Hearing someone in an adjacent fairway • Seeing your friends at the tournament • Seeing a parent's reaction after a shot • Playing partners who distract you • Playing partners who play slowly • Thinking about weather conditions (too hot or cold) • Poor course or green conditions • Someone standing in your putting line • Slow play or being timed • Thinking about who's watching you play • Someone whispering or coughing • Hearing clubs rattle in a nearby fairway • Other: _____
Past Distractions	• Overanalyzing your swing after a bad shot • Thinking about the last shot, hole, or round • Dwelling on a past mistake or decision • Thinking about the last missed putt • Thinking about the last time you played the hole • Concern about how you did in the warm-up • Thinking about challenges in your life • Other: _____
Future Distractions	• Thinking that you need to shoot a specific score • Worrying about disappointing others • Wondering what to do after the round • Thinking about future shots or holes • Imagining a poor outcome ("Don't miss...") • Labeling what the putt is for ("This is for par") • Thinking you must win • Other: _____
Random Distractions	• Thinking about homework you have to do • Thinking about a test you took in school that day • Worrying about a relationship • Thinking about eating because you're hungry • Other: _____	